

Of all the things that wisdom provides for living one's entire life is happiness, the greatest by far is the possession of friendship