Spain is a fascinating country full of history and culture. Here are some interesting facts about this varied country.

- 2) The national anthem has no words. Known as the Marcha Real, it's only one of four national anthems with no words.
- 3) Spain has the third largest number of UNESCO sites in the world. Spain is a country full of history and incredible landmarks.
- 4) The Moors conquered over half of the country in the 8th century. They left their mark on Spanish society including architecture, food and culture. The Old City of Malaga, the Alhambra Palace and the Mezquita in Cordoba are some of Spain's treasures.
- 5) Each of the 17 regions of Spain has a unique identity and culture of its own. The unification of Spain wasn't started until 1469 when Ferdinand of Aragon married Isabella of Castile. Even today, parts of Spain have clear differences, and some like the Barcelona area still crave independence.
